

Open Science legal context

General rule:

You can legally do NOTHING with a third party work

UNLESS:

- You obtain consent OR
- You use an exception OR
- The work is under public domain

THEREFORE: Licence your work so others may use it legally